TRINITY MOOT COURT SOCIETY

presents

AN ENGAGING SESSION ON

COURTROOM ETIQUETTES AND PROFESSIONAL MANNERISM.

By- Adv. Nitya Ahuja

27TH JANUARY, 2026 | 10:00 AM

Venue- Trinity Institute of Professional Studies

DIRECTOR

Sector-9, Dwarka, New Delhi-110075

Date	27th January 2026
Topic	Courtroom Etiquettes and Professional Mannerism
Venue	TIPS Dwarka

Objective of the Session

The session on "Courtroom Etiquettes and Professional Mannerism" was organised with the objective of sensitising first-year law students to the importance of discipline, decorum, and professionalism in courtroom settings. The session aimed to lay a strong foundation for students' participation in moot courts, internships, and future legal practice by introducing them to the essential norms of professional conduct expected from members of the legal fraternity.

Description of the Session

The Moot Court Society of the Department of Legal Studies organised an engaging and informative session on Courtroom Etiquettes and Professional Mannerism for first-year law students at Trinity Institute of Professional Studies. The session was conducted by Adv. Nitya Ahuja, a distinguished alumna of the institution and a practicing advocate with experience in corporate, commercial, and litigation matters .

The programme commenced with a formal welcome address by the members of the Moot Court Society, wherein the significance of courtroom discipline and professional behavior was highlighted. It was emphasized that for a law student, the courtroom whether real or academic is not merely a place for arguments, but a professional space governed by rules of decorum, respect, and ethical conduct.

Adv. Nitya Ahuja addressed the students on the importance of mastering courtroom etiquettes at an early stage of legal education. She explained how moot courts often serve as the first exposure to courtroom environments and how proper conduct during such proceedings helps bridge the gap between theoretical learning and practical application. The speaker elaborated on various aspects of professional mannerism, including appropriate courtroom behavior, addressing the bench, body language, attire, and respectful communication.

Drawing from her extensive professional experience, Adv. Ahuja shared practical insights into how professional demeanor impacts advocacy and credibility before the court. She also highlighted how early training in courtroom etiquettes prepares students for moot court competitions, internships, and real courtroom experiences. The session underscored the role of professionalism as a foundational element of a successful legal career.

DIRECTOR

(Adj. Metro Pillar No. 1160, Institutional Area)
Sector-9, Dwarka, New Delhi-110075

Learning Outcomes

At the conclusion of the session, students were able to:

1. Understand the significance of courtroom etiquettes and professional conduct
2. Develop awareness of appropriate behavior in moot courts and real courtrooms
3. Appreciate the role of professionalism in effective advocacy
4. Gain confidence for future participation in moot courts and legal internships

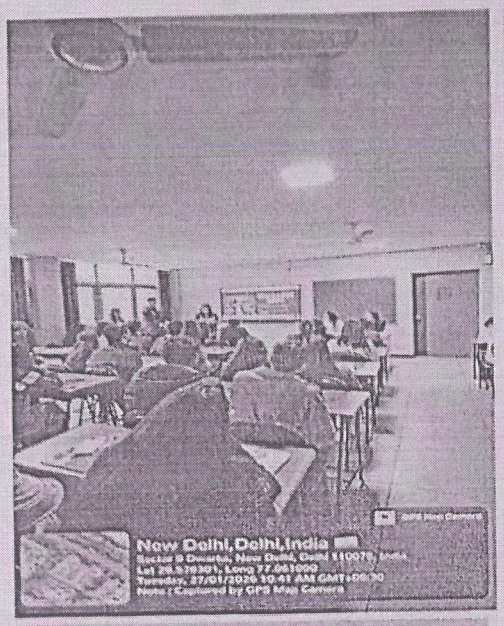

Student Participation and Interaction

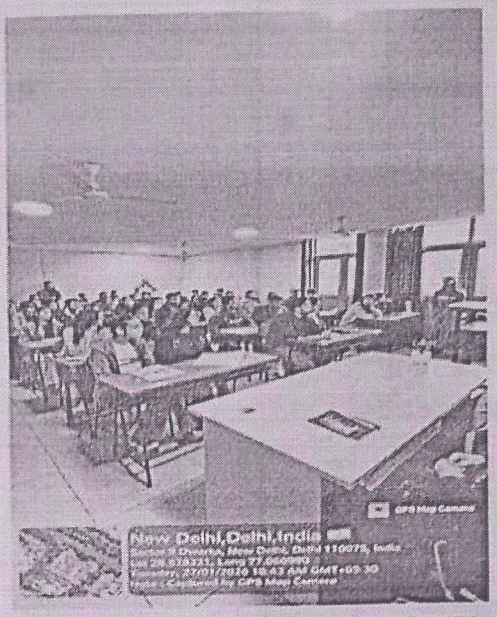

The session witnessed active participation from first-year law students. Students attentively engaged with the discussion and gained valuable insights into courtroom conduct and professional expectations. The interactive nature of the session encouraged students to reflect on their role as future legal professionals.

Conclusion

The session on "Courtroom Etiquettes and Professional Mannerism" proved to be highly beneficial for first-year law students. It successfully introduced students to the essential values of discipline, decorum, and professionalism required in legal practice. The initiative by the Moot Court Society contributed significantly to experiential learning and helped students develop confidence and professionalism from the early stages of their legal education.

The workshop commenced with an overview of Section 54 of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882, explaining the meaning of sale, essential elements of transfer of ownership, and distinction between sale agreement and sale deed.

The resource person elaborated on:

- Essentials of a valid sale under Section 54 TPA
- Structure and format of a sale deed
- Important clauses such as recitals, description of property, consideration, transfer of title, delivery of possession, indemnity, and covenants
- Role of stamp duty and registration under the Registration Act, 1908
- Common mistakes and precautions in drafting sale deeds

A model sale deed was discussed clause-by-clause, enabling students to understand both legal and practical drafting aspects.

Interactive Session

An interactive discussion session followed, during which students raised queries regarding title

SECTION B: Event Report & Reflection

The Department of Commerce organized a workshop on the stock market 'BULLS AND BEARS' for students to the fundamentals of investing, trading, and financial markets. The aim was to demystify key concepts such as stock exchanges, shares, market indices, risk, and returns, and to bridge the gap between theoretical learning and real-world practice. Through interactive sessions, case studies and hands-on examples, students will gain practical insights into how the stock market operates, understand the regulatory framework, and learn how to make informed investment decisions.

1. Objectives

- To introduce students to the basic structure and functioning of the stock market (e.g. how exchanges work, what shares are, role of brokers).
- To help students understand the relationship between risk and return in investments.
- To familiarise students with fundamental and technical analysis tools used in stock selection and market analysis.
- To teach students about regulatory bodies and legal frameworks that govern the stock market in India (e.g. SEBI, listing standards, trading rules).
- To enable students to simulate trading or investing (virtual/ dummy platform) so they can practice decision-making without financial risk

2. Event Description

The Stock Market Simulation Workshop commenced with a warm welcome and an interactive icebreaker, allowing students to share prior exposure to the markets and setting the stage for active engagement. A concise theoretical session followed, covering fundamental concepts such as the functioning of stock exchanges, distinctions between primary and secondary markets, and key financial terminology. With this conceptual foundation, students transitioned into a dynamic simulation exercise where they managed virtual portfolios, made trades in response to market events and news, evaluated stock performance, and experimented with investment strategies ranging from growth and value investing to diversification and risk management. Engagement levels varied, with some participants adopting highly active trading approaches while others exercised caution and restraint, creating a collaborative yet competitive learning environment.

The workshop provided holistic skill development by enhancing financial literacy, analytical thinking, and decision-making under uncertainty, while also instilling risk management practices such as diversification and stop-loss strategies. Beyond technical knowledge, the experience cultivated emotional discipline and resilience, helping students navigate the psychological challenges of market fluctuations. Overall, the simulation not only deepened academic and practical understanding of financial markets but also nurtured critical personal competencies,

SECTION C: Feedback Analysis

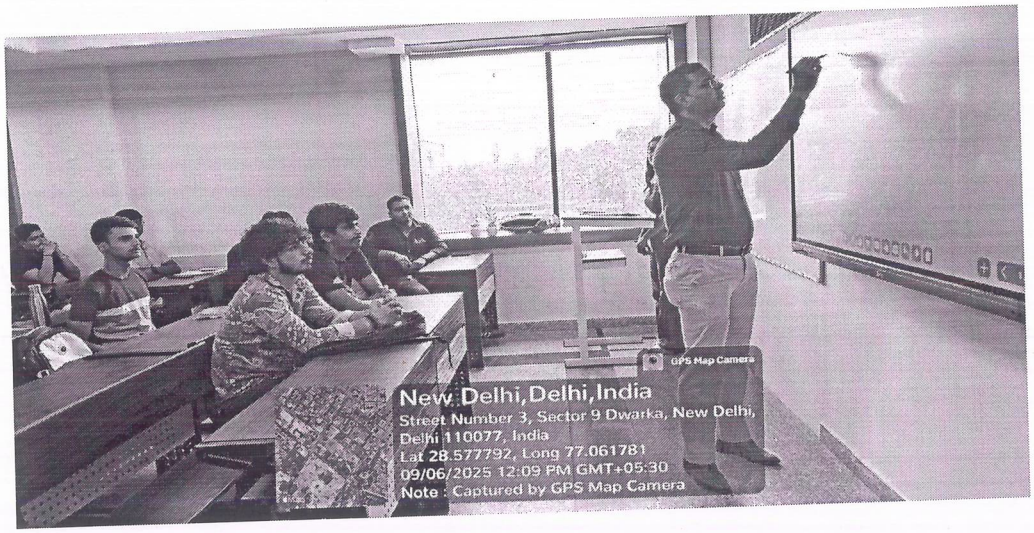

The Bulls and Bears stock market simulation workshop, attended by 50 B.Com students, received consistently positive feedback across all measured parameters. The session was rated highly for its informativeness (4.42) and relevance to career development (4.35), indicating that students found the workshop both educational and aligned with their future goals. Faculty/Resource Person Delivery (4.47) emerged as a strong point, with students appreciating the clarity of explanations and the engaging delivery style. Audience Engagement (4.28) reflected that most participants actively interacted during the trading simulation, while the workshop overall maintained strong academic and practical relevance.

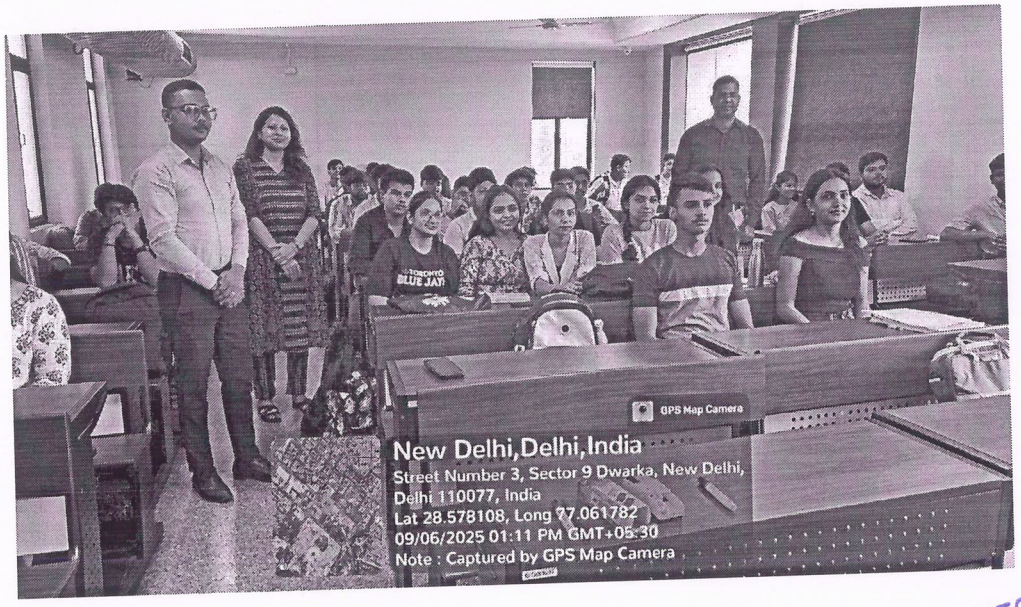

- Students developed a foundational understanding of stock markets, investment strategies, and trading mechanisms.
- Through hands-on simulation, participants practiced portfolio management, diversification, and risk assessment in real-time market scenarios.
- The workshop improved students' ability to make decisions under uncertainty and instilled discipline in trading behavior, preparing them for real-world financial challenges.
- Overall, the session successfully enhanced financial literacy, analytical ability, and practical exposure, equipping students with essential skills for careers in finance and commerce.

Report on workshop on Drafting of Suit for Recovery

Date	8th September 2025
Topic	Workshop on Drafting of Suit for Recovery
Venue	Room No. 703, TIPS

Introduction

A workshop on legal drafting titled "Drafting of Suit for Recovery" was organised to provide practical training to law students in drafting civil suits relating to recovery of money. The workshop aimed to enhance students' understanding of procedural law and its practical application in civil litigation.

Objectives of the Workshop

The workshop was conducted with the following objectives:

1. To familiarise students with the concept and scope of a suit for recovery of money under the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908.
2. To explain the jurisdictional and procedural requirements involved in instituting a recovery suit.
3. To impart practical knowledge of drafting pleadings on behalf of the plaintiff.
4. To understand valuation of suits, court fees, and limitation aspects.
5. To develop drafting skills essential for litigation practice and judicial examinations.

Resource Person

The workshop was conducted by Ms. Gitanjali Goel, ADJ, OSD Delhi High Court, who shared practical insights based on courtroom practice and relevant case laws.

Proceedings of the Workshop

The workshop commenced with an introduction to the legal framework governing suits for recovery, including provisions of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, Indian Contract Act, 1872, and the Limitation Act, 1963.

The resource person elaborated on:

- Cause of action and maintainability of a recovery suit
- Jurisdiction of civil courts (territorial, pecuniary, and subject-matter)
- Essential pleadings under Order VI and Order VII CPC
- Structure of a plaint: title, facts, cause of action, valuation, jurisdiction, and prayer
- Drafting of verification and supporting documents

Students were taken through a model plaint for recovery of money, with emphasis on clarity, precision, and legal drafting style.

Interactive Session

An interactive session followed wherein students actively participated by asking questions on limitation periods, interest claims, court fees, and execution of decrees. Hypothetical case scenarios were discussed to provide hands-on drafting experience.

Outcome of the Workshop

The workshop successfully achieved the following outcomes:

- Enhanced understanding of civil procedure and recovery suits
- Improved drafting and pleading skills
- Practical exposure to court-oriented documentation
- Increased confidence in handling civil litigation matters

Participants gained valuable insights into drafting suits for recovery in compliance with procedural laws.

Conclusion

The workshop on drafting of suit for recovery proved to be highly beneficial and informative. It effectively bridged the gap between theoretical study and practical application of civil law, thereby strengthening the professional competence of the students.

Event Report & Reflection

1. Event Description

a)Identify Strengths and Weaknesses: -Help students recognize their existing skills and areas for improvement across multiple intelligence domains such as communication, analytical ability, teamwork, and self-management.

b)Enhance Internship Readiness: -Provide students with a clear understanding of the prerequisites required for internships, including professional communication, time management, and adaptability in workplace settings.

c)Promote Self-Awareness and Reflection: -Encourage students to engage in self-reflection to align their personal strengths with professional expectations, fostering confidence and goal clarity.

d)Develop Essential Employability Skills: - Strengthen critical skills such as problem-solving, collaboration, presentation, and digital literacy that are vital for internship success.

e)Bridge Academic Learning with Workplace Application: -Connect classroom knowledge with practical workplace requirements, ensuring students are prepared to transition smoothly into professional environments.

Event Description

The Multi-Intelligence Workshop was organized by the Commerce Department to prepare students for their upcoming internships by helping them assess and understand their individual strengths and weaknesses. The session introduced the concept of multiple intelligences—covering areas such as linguistic, logical-mathematical, interpersonal, intrapersonal, and spatial intelligence—and demonstrated how these skills directly impact workplace performance. During the session, students engaged in self-assessment activities, reflective exercises, and discussions that highlighted their personal learning styles, teamwork abilities, and problem-solving approaches. Faculty members guided students in interpreting their results and provided strategies to enhance employability skills such as communication, analytical thinking, emotional resilience, and adaptability. The event created an interactive environment where students gained clarity on the prerequisites for internship success, while also receiving actionable insights to improve their professional readiness.

The feedback from students indicated that the Multi-Intelligence Workshop successfully achieved its objective of preparing them for internships. The session was highly appreciated for helping students identify their strengths and weaknesses, particularly in the areas of communication, analytical ability, and interpersonal skills. Students rated relevance to internship preparation (4.55) as the most impactful aspect, showing that the content directly aligned with their upcoming needs.

Self-awareness (4.50) emerged as another strong outcome, as students became more conscious of their learning styles, problem-solving approaches, and areas requiring improvement. Faculty delivery (4.48) and clarity (4.40) confirmed that the facilitators provided guidance effectively. The workshop's practical usefulness (4.42) reinforced its applicability to workplace readiness, ensuring students are better equipped to handle professional challenges.

Key Findings

- Students valued the direct link between the session and internship readiness.
- The workshop enhanced self-awareness and reflection, which are vital for personal growth.
- Faculty-led guidance was clear, engaging, and impactful.
- The event successfully combined academic insight with practical employability skills.

Report on India AI Impact Summit

Date: 20th January 2026
Venue: Silver Oak, India Habitat Centre, New Delhi
Organiser: Anudip Foundation

The CS and IT Department of Trinity Institute of Professional Studies (TIPS), Dwarka, participated in the Anudip organized a Pre-AI Summit held at Silver Oak, India Habitat Centre, on 20 January 2026. It was a moment of pride for both the department and the institution as two students of BCA 6th semester, Lakshita Chawla and Mouli Sadana, showcased their project at the summit. They were handpicked by Anudip for the project under Anudip trainer's guidance and for subsequent demonstration during the Summit. Notably, they were among the three selected stall demonstrators at the event.

The theme of the AI Impact Summit was based on the seven chakras. Signifying global co-operation, the seven chakras include:

- Human Capital
- Inclusion for Social Empowerment
- AI for economic development & social good
- Safe & Trusted AI
- Science
- Resilience, Innovation, and Efficiency
- Democratizing AI Resources

During the summit proceedings, representatives from the Ministry of Education, and Ministry of electronics & IT, Government of India, shared important insights into the India AI Mission and the upcoming AI Summit scheduled to be held in India from 16-20 February 2026.

The event featured three insightful panel discussions on the themes: AI at Scale- The Power of Collaboration, Reskilling for Resilience, and AI Solutions for Inclusion. These discussions included participation from representatives of leading organizations such as Microsoft, Accenture, World Bank, Nasscom Foundation, Lenovo, Capgemini, iMerit, and others.

In between the panel discussions, an alumni interaction session titled CupConnect was conducted for former Anudip students, in which our student Shivam Goyal (BCA) was also a panellist. It is noteworthy that Shivam has also been one of the panellists at the a key pre-summit event for the India–AI Impact Summit 2026 organised by IBM India CSR Annual Summit 2025, held at Le Méridien, New Delhi, on October 31.

During their project demonstration, Lakshita and Mouli had valuable opportunities to interact and network with professionals from the fintech sector.

The International Workshop was conducted by Mr. Zeke Montgomery, an esteemed academic and professional from Drexel University, USA. The session witnessed enthusiastic participation from students and faculty members of the Department of Commerce.

Mr. Montgomery delivered an insightful session focusing on sustainability as a core principle in modern education and business practices. He explained how experiential learning methods, such as project-based learning, internships, and real-world problem-solving, enhance students' skills and employability in a global context.

The workshop also highlighted global career pathways, international education systems, and opportunities for students to pursue higher education and careers abroad. Mr. Montgomery shared practical examples from global institutions, emphasizing the importance of adaptability, cross-cultural competence, and sustainability-focused skills.

The session was interactive and engaging, with students actively participating through questions and discussions. The collaboration with IDP further enriched the session by providing guidance on international academic pathways and career planning.

The workshop concluded with a formal vote of thanks, acknowledging the valuable insights shared by the resource person and the support extended by IDP. The event proved to be an enriching learning experience, broadening students' perspectives on global education, sustainability, and career development.

Expected Learning Outcomes

- Students gained an understanding of sustainability and its importance in global education and business environments.
- Students learned the value of experiential learning in enhancing practical skills and employability.
- Students developed awareness of international education systems and global career opportunities.
- Students improved their understanding of global competencies required for future careers
- Students were motivated to explore sustainable and internationally relevant career pathways.

EVENT PROPOSAL

Organised by: Department of Commerce
Institution: Trinity Institute of Professional Studies, Dwarka, New Delhi
Proposed Date: 6th February 2026
Venue: Trinity Institute of Professional Studies
In Association With: IDP
Resource Person: Mr. Zeke Montgomery, Drexel University, USA

1. Introduction

In today's rapidly evolving global environment, sustainability, experiential learning, and global career readiness have become essential components of higher education. To expose students to international perspectives and best practices in these areas, the Department of Commerce proposes to organise an International Workshop on Sustainability, Experiential Learning, and Global Career Pathway in association with IDP.

The workshop will be conducted by Mr. Zeke Montgomery from Drexel University, USA, who will share global insights on sustainable practices, innovative learning approaches, and international education and career opportunities

2. Objectives

- To create awareness among students about the importance of sustainability in education and professional practices.
- To introduce the concept of experiential learning and its role in skill development and career readiness.
- To provide students with insights into global education systems and international career pathways.
- To bridge the gap between classroom learning and real-world global professional expectations.
