

2.3 - Teaching- Learning Process

2.3.1: Student centric methods, such as experiential learning, participative learning and problem-solving methodologies are used for enhancing learning experiences using ICT tools

Experiential Learning

The institute emphasizes hands-on learning through internships, industrial visits, and live projects, exposing students to real-world applications. Activities include visits to organizations like Coca-Cola Yakult, High Court, and Cyber Cell. To bridge the industry-academia gap, workshops, guest lectures, and alumni interactions are organized. Students gain practical skills through MOOCs and tools like Adobe Photoshop, Power BI, and Advanced Excel.

Participative Learning

The institute fosters participative learning through student-driven clubs and societies across disciplines. Students actively plan and execute events such as Unmad (Cultural Fest), Tech-Samaroh (IT Fest), Jazbaat (Open Mic), Urja (Management and Commerce Fest), MUN, conferences, webinars, seminars, and competitions.

Problem-Solving Methodologies

The institute focuses on preparing industry-ready students by going beyond the curriculum. Teaching involves case studies, group discussions, quizzes, and IIC-integrated sessions to foster critical and design thinking. Practical skills are enhanced through computer-based tasks, regular assignments, and tests, enabling students to apply theoretical knowledge to real-world problems.
